Bomber Explodes, Crashes In Housing Area; Crew Killed

Youth Kills Executive

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UP) — A 19-year-old youth has confessed to shooting to death his mother's sweetheart, a 45-year-old advertising executive, as the victim slept in a beach motel.

Charles L. Guy, son of Mrs. Nina James Angus, 37, confessed to the shooting Friday. His mother, who identified herself as a one-time Dunn, N. C., attorney and was booked in the murder, was released.

The youth told police he shot Guy F. Roberts, representative of the Morrell Co., with a shotgun early Thursday morning. "I don't know why I did it," Guy told police, "I was very fond of Roberts."

Mrs. Angus said she had been living with Roberts and they planned to be married. The son resided with William Miles, 49, cocktail bar pianist with whom Mrs. Angus had lived for several years before moving in with Roberts about a month ago.

It was learned at the scene that the Brown car was travelling toward Harrisburg and that the L & N train, consisting of engine, one car and caboose, was going toward Eldorado.

It was reported the crash occurred around 6:30 a. m.

Bankers Advised On How to Help Area Agriculture

Banking practices and positions regarding agriculture was the subject of a Federal Reserve Bank economist in a talk before the Saline County Bankers association meeting Thursday night.

The meeting was held at the Egyptian State bank at Carrier Mills following a dinner at Gibson's cafe.

Speaker was Clifton Luttrell, agricultural economist of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, who spoke to the bankers on what they could do to help agriculture in the area.

Mr. Luttrell told of the drop in the number of farm workers due to technological advances and of the increase in average farm income, from 1944 when there were 2,000 farms in Saline county with an average income of $1,200 to 1954 when the number of farms was cut to 1,500 in the county but the average income was $3,000.

He listed a four-point program he suggested bankers to follow:

1. Talents of banks should be directed to create more farms of efficient size. He said farms of 260-339 acres most efficient size.

2. Seek to influence size of farms by control of liquid assets to bring them up to efficient size.

3. Encourage loans for soil-conservation practices and for building up of farms as there is no place in the picture for low-productive lands.

4. Banks should continue with other organizations in getting industry into the area that will take up the slack caused when farm workers lose their jobs because of farm machinery advances, so that they will not go off to other areas looking for work.

Residents Miraculously Escape Injury

One of Motors Hits House Vacated Only Moments Before

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)— A twin-engine Air Force bomber exploded and crashed in a housing development here early today, killing four crewmen and hurling one of its motors into a house vacated only minutes before.

Residents of the homes, many of them Air Force personnel of the West Palm Beach Air Force Base and their families, miraculously escaped injury.

The Air Force said the World War II B25 bomber, on the last leg of a routine training flight from Vance Air Force Base, Enid, Okla., crashed into a group of homes about a quarter of a mile from the base here, where the plane was bound.

A section of the fuselage "settled between two houses," the Air Force said.

A witness said one of the plane's engines hurtled into the bedroom of a house, but the occupants had fled the home minutes before when they heard what sounded like a plane in trouble.

The bomber had arrived safely over the field here after making one stop at Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La. It radioed for landing clearance, then apparently developed engine trouble.

The Air Force withheld names of the dead crewman pending notification of next of kin.

Authorities said the plane littered the area with debris and damaging three homes.

Residents of the housing development said they heard the plane in trouble and alerted the neighborhood. Families evacuated their homes in nightclothes. Six children were among the persons who ran out of the houses which were damaged.

Witnesses said the plane burst into flames and exploded just before it struck the ground.

One resident said the plane 'sounded like a helicopter instead of a bomber—we knew it was in trouble."

An investigation was started by the Air Force to determine the cause of the crash. Officials said they had no idea at present what went wrong with the plane, which appeared to be operating normally just before the crash.

Polish Diplomat Flees Embassy With Son for Asylum in Britain

LONDON (UP) — Britain granted political asylum today to a Polish diplomat who said his Communist wife spied on him for the secret police.

Mieczyslaw Reluga, 26, an assistant to the Polish commerical attache, fled the Polish Embassy to freedom with his four-year-old son. He was to have been sent home Sunday.

A Polish secret policeman tried to stop him, but with Scotland Yard agents watching from a distance, Reluga ran to a taxi and disappeared into London traffic.

The home office announced without elaboration that Reluga had applied for political asylum and had received permission to remain in Britain.

Reluga's wife, who kept Polish secret agents informed about his movements in Britain, already had flown home to Poland with their two-year-old daughter.

Reluga had planned to escape Communist control several years ago when he became disenchanted with the Red regime in Poland.

He decided to make the break several months ago, but word of his feelings leaked to the secret police.

They contacted Reluga's 24-year-old wife, Melinia, whom he described as such a die-hard Communist she cried when Stalin died, and asked her to spy on her husband.

Reluga said his wife became extraordinarily interested in his telephone calls and visits to non-Communist friends in Britain. He said his wife went through his papers at the embassy and eavesdropped when he talked with his friends.

The young diplomat finally was ordered back to Poland last month. When he accused his wife of spying on him, she broke down and admitted it, saying she had been reporting on his movements and reading his mail.

"I will not live with you again," he told her. Melinia flew home two weeks ago, leaving their son Richard with Reluga.

He was ordered to sail for home Sunday aboard the liner Batory.

Four Killed So Insurance Can Pay Debts

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UP) —A letter from the dead explained today that a war hero's family of four was shot to death Thursday so their life insurance could pay their debts.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Harris, owners of the cottage in Colorado Springs where M-Sgt. Leo Dandoy's family of four lived and died, said Mrs. Magdalena Dandoy, 34, wrote them a long letter explaining why she killed her family and herself.

Police said Mrs. Dandoy shot her 41-year-old husband and their two sons, Daniel, 11, and Edralin, 10, while they slept and then turned the .38-caliber revolver on herself.

Mrs. Dandoy said in her letter that they purchased a new car July 19 for $4935 and that she borrowed the balance, above an $1800 trade-in, from a loan company without her husband's knowledge. She handled the family funds.

She said her husband thought they had the cash to pay for the car.

"He believed me about savings,' the letter stated. "I have a confession to make. I lied to him."

She said they owed a bank another $1,706, in addition to other bills amounting to $788.

She wrote that she didn't know how to make the payments until she thought of the life insurance—$8,000 on her husband and $2,500 on herself and the boys.

"I went to money borrowing, forging his (her husband's) signature," she wrote. "I have ruined his future, and our sons'. These must all come to an end."

Three Killed in Auto Accident

CARLINVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Three men were killed Friday when the car in which they were riding went out of control, flipped over a bridge abutment and rolled 30 feet down an embankment into a ditch.

Those killed were James Wilson, 45, driver of the car; William Grady, 62, and Claude Porter, 64. Wilson was employed on a farm near Greenfield. Grady managed a farm north of here and Porter worked for Grady.

The crash occurred a mile north of here on Ill. 4.

Witnesses said it occurred as Wilson tried to pass another car. It took workmen half an hour to extricate the bodies from the mangled car.

W. C. Choate, 94, Ex-Operator of Road Show, Dies

William C. Choate, 94, 1007 South Buchanan street, Marion, died in the Marion Memorial hospital, Friday, where he had been a patient since Sunday. The body is in the care of the Wilson-Frick funeral home and funeral plans are not completed.

Mr. Choate was a native of the Tunnel Hill community in Johnson county, and was best known as the operator of the travelling shows, Choate's Comedians. He operated these shows for more than 50 years before his retirement and followed through the eras of horse-drawn show wagons and railroad show cars, to the more modern trucks.

In later years, Mr. Choate is quoted as saying that the only "props" he had left were his Bible and his violin, both of which he used daily.

His shows were noteworthy in that he never had a Sunday performance, moving into a town on Saturday and demanding church attendance of his troupe on Sunday.

Until recent years these shows were seen in Harrisburg every summer.

Movie Stars Quake While Witness Describes Maureen O'Hara's Cuddling Session

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Movieland quaked in its boots today with film stars accused of sexy escapades having little hope of escaping further embarrassment resulting from sizzling testimony recorded in the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial.

Highlight of the trial thus far came prior to adjournment Friday when red-haired Maureen O'Hara's alleged cuddling session with a Latin escort in the darkened last row of Grauman's Chinese Theater was described in detail by defense witness James Craig.

Spectators were spellbound when a buxom, blonde newspaper woman and Craig, a former assistant manager of the theater, entangled themselves across three courtroom chairs recreating the scene Craig said took place.

This testimony, plus defense attorney Arthur Crowley's promise to call more witnesses to relate other playful indiscretions, indicated that subpenaed movie stars had cause to fret.

Craig was the first witness called by Crowley to prove the truth of stories published in Confidential and Whisper in the case against Fred and Marjorie Meade, who ran Hollywood Research Inc., West Coast listening post for the magazines.

Craig told the jury he had met Miss O'Hara in Ireland previously, and recognized her when she entered the theater with a man in November, 1953.

"An hour after they were seated," he testified, "I found the gentleman was seated facing the screen, but Miss O'Hara was laying across his lap. Her blouse was undone. She looked very disheveled and very untidy."

Craig said he returned with a flashlight, playing the beam across their bodies to halt the proceedings.

"They both came to a proper sitting position," he added. "But later I found the gentleman sitting on the seat and Miss O'Hara sitting on his lap. I asked them to leave."

FBI Names Woman 'Con Artist'

ATLANTA (UP)—The FBI today fingered Mrs. Margaret Lydia Burton, veteran "con artist" of the tea and crumpets set, as the master embezzler who fleeced a group of local doctors of $100,000.

Mrs. Burton, said the FBI, is the so-called Mrs. Janet Gray, who wormed her way into the best social set in suburban Decatur, dipped into the till of a local clinic where she worked to the tune of some $100,000 and then made a circus style escape from the city as auditors closed in on the swindle.

The FBI said the crime career of the 51-year-old Mrs. Burton, a woman of many aliases and many talents, spanned the ocean and covered a continent.

Honolulu, Panama City, Los Angeles, Vancouver, New Orleans, Denver, St. Louis, Atlanta — all provided happy hunting grounds for the remarkable Mrs. Burton, whose exploits and escapes read like a paperback novel.

The FBI Friday released her story and her picture in hopes that her next appearance—no one can guess where it might be—would tip the authorities to her whereabouts before she has a chance to flee.

Leaves Town In a Hurry

A 1953 automobile she bought in San Antonio, Tex., opened the door to her background when the FBI began investigating the disappearance of Mrs. Gray three weeks ago.

Mrs. Gray had left town in a hurry in a pink limousine with a contingent of pedigree Cocker Spaniels, two truckloads of furniture and a "niece" with the appealing name of Candy Lane. Left behind was the car she bought in Texas.

In establishing its ownership, agents traced the "startling" career of an amazing woman.

She was not Mrs. Gray but Mrs. Burton, who had traveled under an assortment of names. Candy was not her 16-year-old niece but her 20-year-old daughter, Sheila, born of a marriage to Jasper Burton that ended in divorce years ago in Honolulu.

Mrs. Burton is wanted by the FBI for the Decatur embezzlement, which involved pocketing the cash payments made to the clinic where she kept books, and Sheila is wanted as an accomplice.

Fleecing the doctors was easy after all she had done in the past, the FBI indicated.

Mrs. Burton, born in Tientsin, China, of British parents, swindled a Chinese rug merchant in Honolulu in 1939 and proceeded to bigger and better swindles, following nothing resembling a familiar pattern except a quick foot on the escape pedal.

Owns Champion Cocker

In Los Angeles she operated a knitting shop. In New Orleans she ran a beauty parlor. In San Antonio, she did television work and raised dogs. In Norfolk, Va., and then Decatur she was a bookkeeper. She always seemed to be a step ahead of justice by leaving town just in time or by falling back on legal technicalities.

The FBI said Mrs. Burton was indicted for embezzling her em-

An egg isn't much — but it's a whole day's work for a hen. It's almost an impossible day's work for the hen that doesn't get a good layer ration. If the hen gets enough grain for a whole egg and just enough protein and vitamins for half an egg she will probably lay an egg every other day and use the extra grain to put on fat.

If you want your grain, vitamins, and protein to come out even for your hens feed grain fifty-fifty with Masco 22% Layer. This way, every time the hen wants to lay an egg she has the right amount of everything she needs. She has no extra calories from excess grain to convert into body fat or throw off in body heat. If you like to feed a complete ration without grain feed Masco 17% complete ration. Masco 17% is a high energy ration with enough protein and vitamins to convert the calories into eggs.

You can also make your own layer ration with Masco concentrates. Contact your Masco dealer or service man for a feeding program designed to increase your poultry profits.

This Week at DIXON SPRINGS

University of Illinois Experiment Station

(A roundup of the week's work, activities and observations at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station near Robbs in southern Illinois, prepared by the Station's staff.)

This has been "one of those years" at the Station—a year when after a blade of grass or a sprig of clover is eaten, another appears like magic to replace it. But there's a reason: The hand of the magician who brought about this "magic" is a hand that has been engaged for the past 20 years in digging, measuring and testing soil. This same hand has spread lime, rock phosphate and potash and has scattered the seed of legumes as the basis for a continuously paying program. And, in a year like this, the returns come in the form of a very generous bonus for a job well done.

Opportunity

"Opportunity never looks as good coming as it does going." And the fellow who didn't start a sound fertility program because he didn't expect a high return during dry years knows the truth of this quotation. Many Station pastures have carried two yearling cattle on each acre from early April through the summer. And even now there's grazing to spare! We can't claim credit for the rain, but we can take pride in being prepared.

A Fleet Fellow

Days pass swiftly and pasture seeding time is here. However, it is not too late to grab fleeting "opportunity" by the tail, whip him around, take him by the horns and back him into your farm adviser's office with your soil samples for testing. In this way you will be sure to prepare a seedbed into which you have disked the recommended amounts of limestone and fertilizer.

Mixtures

The complete August 1956 seedings of both clover and grass — without a nurse crop — were surprisingly productive and ready to graze in full force last April. We might have used the following mixture: Orchard grass, 6 lb.; timothy, 2 lb.; red clover, 3 lb.; alfalfa, 3 lb.; and Ladino clover, 1 lb. If the days pass too swiftly and September arrives while the seed is still in the sack, it will probably be wiser to seed only the grass along with a small-grain nurse crop. The clover can be broadcast in late February or early March.

Soil Bank's '58 Wheat Acreage Reserve Announced

The Soil Bank's 1958 Acreage Reserve program, announced recently by Acting Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse, will be available first for winter wheat, Herman Driskell, chairman of the Saline County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today.

Beginning August 26, farmers who wish to take part in the Acreage Reserve program by reducing their winter wheat acreage below the established farm acreage allotment will be able to sign 1958 program agreements at the County ASC office. Officials in the office are busy working out last-minute details on procedure, prior to opening of the signup period.

"A number of changes have been made in provisions of the 1958 Acreage Reserve program, based on the past two years' experience," Chairman Herman Driskell stated. "Probably the most important of these changes is the establishment of a total crop acreage figure for which each farm, to be called the 'Soil Bank base' provision, should help to check the shift of production from Acreage Reserve crops to other crops, which contribute to overall surpluses."

Since a Soil Bank base must be established for each farm before an agreement may be signed, farmers are urged to bring along a record of their farm's crop history when they call at the County ASC office.

Next sale sponsored by the Illinois Purebred Sheep Breeders' Association will be the bred ewe sale on December 14.

To prevent larval worms from increasing on pasture, keep a 1 to 10 mixture of phenothiazine and salt before sheep at all times.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

The days have been growing shorter for more than a month—which is all the excuse we need for a column on the use of artificial lighting for laying hens.

Farmers concerned with managing a good laying flock probably already are moving pullets off the range into a laying house. Early hatched chicks may already be housed. When eggs begin to be found on the range rather regularly, it is time to confine the pullets.

Poultry specialist Richard "Dick" Creek at Southern Illinois University says that laying hens need about 13 hours of light daily to give top production. When the hours of natural daylight fall below this figure, artificial lighting may be used to make up the difference.

At a time when high-producing breeds of poultry are a fact, use of artificial lights may not mean a greater total output of eggs for a hen, but it will tend to even out the distribution so that more of the hen's eggs will be laid in the fall and early winter when prices may be higher, rather than in the spring when natural daylight hours increase but the price of eggs may be lower. Creek says that experimental evidence has demonstrated that it is light rather than warmth that influences egg production. Light stimulates the pituitary gland which produces the hormones responsible for egg production.

According to Creek, it is simpler to use lights only in the morning, because it would be necessary to use a dimming system in shutting off lights in the evening. He adds that many commercial poultrymen use lights all night on yearling hens in summer to keep their feed consumption at a higher level by allowing the birds to eat during cooler parts of the day. He cautions that if all-night lights are used, they must be continued because cutting back on lighting almost certainly will induce molting.

To provide hens with a 13-hour day in Southern Illinois, the use of lights will need to be started about September 1 and continued until about April 15, when there again will be sufficient hours of sunlight to give the hens a full working day.

For the convenience of area farmers who want to use artificial lights in their laying houses, Creek has worked out the following time schedule for turning on the lights in the morning so as to supply a 13-hour day:

Beginning September 1, turn on at 5:00 a. m.; September 15, at 4:45; October 1, at 4:30; October 15, at 4:00; November 1, at 3:45; November 15, at 3:30; December 1, to January 15, at 3:15; then work back down the time scale in 15-minute intervals on the first and fifteenth of each month, beginning January 15, until the 5:00 a. m. turn-on time is reached for the April 1-15 period. Artificial lighting may be discontinued after April 15, if the poultryman is following the 13-hour day program for his layers.

The recommended amount of light will be provided by using one clean 60-watt lamp, suspended seven feet above the floor, for each 200 square feet of floor space in the laying house. Installing a timer switch in the laying house lighting system will simplify the problem of having the lights turned on regularly at the early morning hours.

Gives Reasons For Poor Wheat Germination

Farmers who want to test their seed wheat should not be misled by scattered reports of poor germination, W. O. Scott, University of Illinois crops specialist, warns.

Although some wheat may not be good enough for seed, Scott says that wheat must be germinated properly to get an accurate test. At this time of year, wheat is in a dormant stage. To get it to germinate, it must be crilled in a refrigerator for 5 to 6 days to break the dormancy.

Scott points out that scab spores are also present even on healthy kernels of wheat this year.

These spores produce a blight that causes new seedlings to die. So wheat that is being tested for germination should be treated with Ceresan M or Panogen. Of course, all seed wheat should be treated before planting, too, Scott emphasizes.

Ag Department Revokes Soil Bank Provision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today revoked a provision in the 1958 soil bank acreage regulations for a civil penalty against participating farmers who exceed the "permitted acreage" for harvest of soil bank base crops.

Under the 1958 program, a farm soil bank base will be established for participating farms. This base is the average number of acres harvested in 1956 and 1957. In an acreage reserve agreement, a farmer agrees not to harvest more acres than this base, less any acreage placed in the soil bank. This is his "permitted acreage" for harvest.

The 1958 regulations originally provided that the harvest of more than this "permitted acreage" would subject the farmer to a civil penalty of 50 per cent of the payment which would have been made for full compliance under the soil bank agreement, and also loss of the payment itself.

Under the modification announced today, farmers who do not comply with the permitted acreage provision still will forfeit the entire payment, but no civil penalty will apply.

The department said both a civil penalty and loss of payment will continue to apply for any farmer who harvests a crop or permits livestock to graze on land designated for the soil bank, or who harvests more of the acreage reserve crop than his farm acreage allotment less the acreage in the reserve.

State Director Urges Observance of National CD Week

Gen. Robert M. Woodward, State Civil Defense Director, in a bulletin issued today urged observance of National Civil Defense Week beginning Sept. 15. A proclamation signed by Governor William G. Stratton officially established this commemoration in Illinois.

The State CD Director suggested that Illinois communities use the week to rehearse their disaster roles and assure readiness for an emergency.

An efficient Civil Defense corps will minimize effects of disaster, Gen. Woodward said. He added, "This was most effectively demonstrated in our recent flood and tornado areas."

Hoffa to Appear Before Rackets Group Next Week

Committee Claims Fake Locals Staffed By Racketeers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee will call James R. Hoffa next week to bolster its charge that the crown prince of Teamsters allied with the underworld to grab Teamster control in New York.

In 13 days of hearings the committee has stated its case against Hoffa and called a string of witnesses to back it up, working up from second - team hoodlums to bigger hoods to the second-echelon brass of the nation's biggest union.

Next week's witnesses are expected to include:

—Hoffa himelf, Midwest czar of the union as chairman of its Central States Conference, sixth vice president, odds-on choice to succeed Dave Beck next month as Teamster president, and villain of the committee's version of the story.

—Einar O. Mohn, another vice president, right-hand man to Beck, and apparently the man who runs Teamster's headquarters here in Beck's absence.

The plot revolves around a charge that Hoffa got the Teamsters Union to issue charters for seven phony, memberless locals in New York shortly before the 1956 election for president of Joint Council 16, controlling body of the Teamsters in New York City. The committee says the fake locals were staffed with henchmen of labor racketeers Johnny Dio and Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo, and cast their votes for Hoffa's candidate, John T. O'Rourke.

The committee also presented evidence that some of the delegates who cast the phony locals' votes for O'Rourke were recruited from crap games and bars, and some persons listed as union officers didn't know they held office.

The committee said that while Hoffa was dealing with Corallo and Dio to set up the paper locals and control Joint Council 16, he also was dickering with the International Longshoremen's Association—booted out of the AFL in 1953 for being riddled with racketeers—for an ambitious alliance which would give him a transportation stranglehold on the Atlantic seaboard and St. Lawrence Seaway.

Capt. William Bradley, ILA president, told the committee Friday part of the deal was to be a $490,000 loan from the Teamsters to bail the ILA out of debt to Mine Workers President John L. Lewis and pay off its bills. He said his union gave Hoffa notes for $490,000, never got the money, and cannot now gets its notes back.

Bradley said the alliance collapsed in March, 1956 when Meany got wind of it and threatened to drive the Teamsters out of the AFL-CIO.

Rams' Splurge Downs Redskins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, cellar dwellers last season, turned loose a four touchdown second half splurge sparkled by four pass interceptions to humble the Washington Redskins 45-14 in a professional football charity game before 85,871 fans Friday night.

Boasting a one touchdown lead at halftime in Memorial Coliseum, a sharp-eyed Ram defensive unit intercepted two Redskin pass attempts in each of the third and fourth periods, one good for a 36-yard touchdown romp by defensive guard Les Richter. Two others were turned into scores.

The Rams led 14-7 at halftime.

The Equality Mangis' were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Mangis of Peoria who were their guests over Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mossman and family were in Stonefort over the weekend to visit Mrs. Mossman's sister, Mrs. Paul Hinton, in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCabe.

MISS WILMA REED VACATIONS IN CALIF.

Miss Wilma Reed arrived in Equality August 8 for a ten day visit with Mr. and Mrs. James B. Reed and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McIntire. She has just returned from a five week trip to California. Enroute she spent a day at the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

One of the outstanding places visited in the San Diego area was the world famous Balboa Park which covers 1400 acres. It includes the San Diego Zoo which is said to be the finest in the country; the fine examples of Spanish architecture in the Exposition buildings which are now museums; the organ pavillion which has the world's largest outdoor pipe organ; the Ford Bowl in which symphony concerts and light operas are given; and the Stadium which was currently being prepared for the "The California Story", a pageant of 1300 actors, singers, and dancers to be given during the San Diego annual Fiesta de Pacificio.

The interesting Mission San Diego de Alcala near the city of San Diego was founded in 1767 by Fra Junipedo Serra and was the first of a chain of 21 San Franciscan Missions built in California.

Other places of interest included "Old Town" which is a very historic spot; Point Loma with its Cabrillo National Monument and an excellent view of the city and harbor; the two hour harbor excursion covering twenty-five miles and many points of historic interest in addition to the Navy and Marine Bases, Miss Reed was fortunate in seeing three submarines as well as an aircraft carrier and numerous destroyers and other ships.

A trip to San Diego is not complete without visiting the colorful city of Tiajuana, Mexico. Also a trip to Ensenada, Mexico, about seventy-five miles south of the border afforded a beautiful drive through the mountains and along the ocean.

Some of the high lights of the Los Angeles area were included in visits to Marineland, an Oceanarium, which has the only living whale in captivity; the famous Farmer's Market; Sunset and Vine streets in Hollywood; and Saint Sophia Greek Orthodox Cathedral; and Forest Law Memorial Park, famed for its sculpture, stained glass paintings and architecture, including exact reproductions of all Michelangelo's greatest marble works, "The Last Supper" window, superb recreation of Leonardo da Vinci's painting and Stykes soul-stiring masterpiece, "The Crucifixion".

San Francisco, the city by the Golden Gate, which has been called the New York of the west coast with Oakland and Berkley across the bay proved to be of great interest with wonderful bridges, hotels, parks, museums, Fisherman's Wharf, Chinatown and the Presidio, headquarters for the Sixth Army. Crossing the ferry to get the train in Oakland added to the interest of the return trip through the beautiful Feather River Canyon and Rocky mountains.

On Saturday Miss Reed will return to Harvey to resume her position as head of the Home Economics Department in Thornton Township High School in that city.

Mrs. James Irvin was in Mt. Vernon, Ill., last week where she underwent an eye operation on Thursday. The operation was successful and she has returned to her home and is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Sanks had as visitors for lunch Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Clare Wyckoff who were enroute to their home in Interlaken, New York, following a month's vacation through the West.

Mrs. W. T. Brannon returned Friday from Pontiac, Mich., where she has been spending the past few months with her son, Walter Wiseheart, and family. She was accompanied here by her son and grandson who returned to their home over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bullard and daughter of Godfrey accompanied their grandfather, D. M. Woods, home last week after two weeks' vacation and fishing with them and the Harry Woods family in the Ozarks. He reports a most pleasant and enjoyable vacation.

Mrs. David R. Sanks was in Harrisburg Wednesday of last week to attend the Advisory Board meeting of Cairo Presbytery. On Tuesday of last week Mrs. Sanks and son, Gene, Mrs. D. R. Sanks and daughter, Edith, Mrs. B. Bennett and Miss Helen Mangis were visitors in Evansville and attended the "Ten Commandments" movie.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wasson and little daughter, Deborah, of Belleville were visitors with Mrs. Wasson's mother, Mrs. J. O. Baldwin, over the week end.

'Jonathan--Noble in Friendship'

I Samuel 18:3-4; 19:1-7; 23:15-18

MEMORY VERSE: "A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity." — (Proverbs 17:17)

INTRODUCTION — Sam Walter Foss said: "Let me live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man." Napoleon said: "I made courtiers; I never pretended to make friends." On a rocky little island, Napoleon fretted away the last years of his life —alone

To be a friend is one of the greatest qualities one can develop in this life. Sometimes it is not easy. There are times when another person makes it most difficult for one to be a friend. However, when one succeeds in becoming a friend the rewards are most gratifying.

David slew the giant, Goliath. He came, as a lad, before King Saul to report his deed of bravery. It was "love at first sight." The scripture says: "The soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David."

I FRIENDSHIP THAT BINDS
(I Samuel 18:3-4)

The friendship between David and Jonathan has come down through the centuries as an example to all as to what real friendship should be. David had very little that he could give, but he did give his heart to Jonathan. Jonathan not only gave the same in return, but he gave his garment and his bow to David.

It is really delightful to have friends in the happy hours of life. However, the time when real friends are needed are when the trials and sorrows come. A true friend never seeks credit to himself for deeds of friendship, but th one befriended never forgtts.

II FRIENDSHIP THAT BLESSES
(I Sam. 19:1-7)

When the Prodigal son went away from home to spend his goods in riotous living, he had many would-be friends. When his money was gone; so were these would-be friends.

There comes a time when friendship is tested. It could be that you might have to jeopardize your influence, or even your life sometimes to prove your friendship. If you fail to do so you prove that you are not a true friend. If you keep silent while others are tearing your friend to pieces, then you are not really a friend. If your friend is about to do something wrong, and you fail to try to keep him from doing so, then you are not his true friend.

Saul was going to kill David. Jonathan heard of it and warned David. Jonathan, at the risk of his own position (and perhaps his life), stood beside his father and pled David's case. The result this time was that King Saul repented (changed his mind) and restored David to his place of leadership. Jonathan was a real friend.

III FRIENDSHIP AT ITS BEST
(I Samuel 23:15-18)

David had to hide in caves and live out in the woods in order to be safe from Saul. King Saul's heart was full of envy, jealousy and hatred. He would have gladly murdered David if he could have found him. All this hatred came to his heart because he had heard David would be king of Israel.

What a far cry from the man he started ou' to be. Saul was loved by everyone when we first saw him. He was a head taller than any other man in his kingdom, and he was a handsome man. God even permitted him to be King over His own people Then Saul let little petty jealousies grow into envy and envy into hate and hate into murder. He became an insane man because of his sins

Jonathan knew that David must be somewhat discouraged; so he went out to the woods to find him and offer encouragement. It was there that they made a covenant together. Jonathan never did get to realize his ambition of being next to David when David became king. When Saul was slain by the Philistines, his three sons, including Jonathan were also slain.

CONCLUSION — It would be well if you would read the lament of David found in II Samuel 1:18-27. Here you will find the heartthrob of David when he heard of the death of his beloved friend, Jonathan. No doubt, the loneliest person in the world is the person who has no friends. The happiest people in this world are Christian people with many friends. Only one thing can bring you more joy than friends, and that is to be one yourself. Jesus Christ is one who will be your friend when all others have failed.

Cardinals Snap Nine-Game Losing Streak With 6-2 Win Over Milwaukee Braves

By United Press

Paul Richards was in line for a "triple crown" of his own today—"manager of the year," "executive of the year" and the honor of being the only man in history ever to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a first division finish.

Manager Richards has the Orioles in fourth place today, only four games behind the third-place Boston Red Sox.

Baltimore reached the .500 mark Friday night when they defeated the league-leading New York Yankees, 4-3, in 11 innings. Pinch-hitter George Kell drove in Billy Goodman, who had tripled, with an 11th-inning single off Art Ditmar after Yogi Berra sent the game into overtime with a pinch homer off winner Bill Wight in the ninth inning.

Despite the setback, the Yanks retained their 5 1-2-game lead when the Tigers beat the second-place White Sox, 6-2. The Indians defeated the Athletics, 4-2, and the Senators blanked thee Red Sox, 5-0.

NL Streaks End

The Cardinals snapped their nine-game losing streak and Milwaukee's 10-game winning streak with a 6-2 victory over the Braves. Brooklyn topped Pittsburgh, 4-1; the Giants beat the Phillies, 8-7, in the completion of a suspended game of April 28, then defeated Philadelphia again, 2-1, in a regularly-scheduled contest. The Cubs won their fourth straight with an 8-6 decision over the Redlegs in 12 innings.

Back-to-back homers by Ray Boone and Charlie Maxwell highlighted a four - run fourth inning rally that gave Detroit its win over the White Sox. Left-hander Billy Hoeft scattered 11 hits for his fifth victory. The game, at Detroit, had been threatened by a strike of concession workers but 37,445 fans attended after a picket line was withdrawn because of a court injunction.

Southpaw Chuck Stobbs halted Washington's five - game losing streak with a five-hitter against the Red Sox for his sixth victory. The Senators scored four of their five runs off George Susce Jr., sewing up the game with a three-run rally in the fourth inning.

Rocky Colavito's two-run homer, his 21st of the year, broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning and helped Mike Garcia post his sixth triumph. Dick Williams also homered for the Indians in the first inning. Both homers came off loser Alex Kellner.

Forty-two-year-old Walker Cooper and Del Ennis supplied the big blows in the Cardinals' win over the Braves. Cooper hit a two-run double off loser Gene Conley in the first inning and Ennis belted a three-run homer off Juan Pizarro in the seventh. Lindy McDaniel was the winner although three pitchers followed him to the mound.

Podres Stops Pirates

Southpaw Johnny Podres ended a four-game Pittsburgh winning streak although he needed Ed Roebuck's assistance in the ninth. Bob Purkey yielded single runs in the second and fourth innings, and was driven from the mound ih the fifth when the Dodgers scored two more runs on four singles.

After Marv Grissom pitched 2 2-3 scoreless innings to give the Giants their victory in the suspended game which was resumed in the seventh inning, Ray Jablonski slammed a two-run homer in the ninth to produce another Giant triumph in the regularly-scheduled contest. Jablonski hit his homer off Robin Roberts, who suffered his 16th loss against eight victories. Stu Miller was the winner in relief of Johnny Antonelli.

Walt Moryn's two-run homer off Don Gross in the 12th inning prolonged the Cubs' winning streak and handed Cincinnati its fourth straight loss. Ernie Banks also homered for the Cubs while Frank Robinson connected for the Redlegs. Reliever Jim Brosnan was the winning pitcher after taking over for starter Don Elston in the eighth inning.

Advice On Slipping Away For Fishing Trip

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Conservation Bulletin printed its suggestions for slipping away from the wife for a little fishing.

There's the "sneaky approach." The husband keeps all his fishing tackle in the trunk of his car, and when he wants to go fishing, he simply goes directly from his office, by-passing his home.

"The sneaky approach has definite disadvantages," the Bulletin said. "Sooner or later you have to go home to find the little lady standing four-square in the doorway, usually snarling.

"If you've caught some fish, you're doubly lucky because you can proudly display them and proclaim triumphantly, "ve been fishing'."

"But, if you haven't caught any fish, brother, you're in trouble, and how you get out of that situation is your business."

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

Another coaching clinic sponsored by Southern Illinois University is history. The two-day affair started Thursday at 8:30 a. m. and closed Friday about 4:30 p. m.

The clinics are becoming more popular with coaches each year. Bill Hollada, sports publicitor, told me Thursday evening "This is the biggest group we have ever had." And he was more than pleased that so many were attending.

Newspaper, radio and TV sports personnel were invited to attend all or any part of the clinic and Ken Hamilton of WEBQ and I took in the Thursday evening session. That was more or less the social part of the clinic, although there were some fine movies shown.

Following a dinner, movies featuring the University of Missouri football offensive patterns were shown and two basketball films were run off.

One of the films was a complete University of Missouri cage game, with comments by Wilbur Stalcup, head basketball coach, and the other featured the Minneapolis Lakers of the professional basketball league.

Clinic speakers were Stalcup, Don Faurot, University of Missouri Athletic Director and formerly head football coach, and George Mikan, head coach of the Minneapolis Lakers.

Mikan, known as "Mr. Basketball" and "Big George," deserves both. In nine seasons of pro ball Mikan scored 11,764 points. And he is 6-10 and weighs more than 250 pounds. But with all the size, he moves quickly and looks as though he could still play an acceptable game of basketball, but he retired from the active playing list a year ago.

Among the coaches I talked with who are well known in this area were Ralph Davison, Benton; Bob Dallas, Ridgway; Jim McKee, Centralia; Claude Shelton, Metropolis; A. L. Willis, Carrier Mills; Lawrence Calufetti, HTHS, and Louie Beltz, Harrisburg Junior High; Gene Haile, McLeansboro; John Cherry, Carbondale; Conan Smith, Robinson, and two Eldorado boys entering the coaching ranks for the first time—Jim Beasley, who will assist Haile at McLeansboro, and John Ed Gates, who will be Junior high school coach at Mt. Carmel.

Met Ed Green, new West Frankfort coach. He wondered if any other team in southern Illinois had an 11-game football schedule. Coach Green will lead the WF gridders against the other six members of the South Seven conference, plus Carbondale, Murphysboro, Johnston City, Metropolis and Eldorado outside the league. That is a schedule that has both quantity and quality.

Dallas was busy telling everyone just how tall his much-talked-about center, Roger Suttner, will be by the time basketball season starts. Bob says Suttner is 6-10 and weighs about 175.

McKee told me he had a year's leave of absence from Centralia to accept a year's scholarship at the University of Illinois. He is a math major. Jim said he would assist in football at Centralia for about three weeks, then head for the U. of I. Seemed real happy about the opportunity to take the special math study at the state university.

Conan Smith, who discovered and developed Bob Pitchers into a state champion miler at Equality high school five years ago, will coach at Robinson high school this year.

Shelton had some interesting tales to tell regarding the spring baseball season at Metropolis, with practically every major league scout making a visit to watch "Hawk" Taylor in action. Everyone knows that Taylor signed following graduation with the Milwaukee Braves for a bonus reported to be in the neighborhood of $120,000.

Baseball schedules were interrupted this spring by the rains and Shelton said his telephone was ringing day and night by scouts calling from all points of the country checking on the weather. All scouts had the Metropolis schedule and would call in to find out if it was raining in Metropolis and would it be possible to fly in.

Seems that one game was postponed several days and the scouts kept coming. "We would have had a good sized crowd for that game, even if there had been no one in the stands but scouts," Shelton said with a grin.

He said only the New York Giants had a scout present for the first game, four major league clubs were represented at the second game, and by the end of the season ten or twelve organizations had scouts in the stands for every game.

Shelton said one scout told him he had been watching Taylor since he was nine years old.

The thing that particularly interested me in watching the professional basketball film was the repeated comment by the narrator that "proper execution of the fundamentals and not fancy play is winning basketball." Closing remarks were "Practice, practice, practice until you have mastered the fundamentals." That sounds like good advice, regardless of the game or profession in which we are engaged.

Duck Hunting Season Will Open October 19

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The 1957 duck hunting season in Illinois will open Oct. 19 for a 70 day season.

The length of the season will be the same as last year but will open six days later, state Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer announced Friday.

The season will close Dec. 27.

The goose hunting season in the northern zone will be the same as for ducks. However, Palmer said, the goose season in the southern zone will be limited to 50 days, beginning Nov. 8 and ending Dec. 27.

Last year the southern zone goose season was 40 days.

Bag limits for ducks will be four per day, with a possession limit of eight after the second day. For geese the bag limit will be five including no more than two Canada geese.

Shooting hours will be one half hour before sunrise to sunset. No Wood Ducks may be taken.

The Illinois season was set within the limits announced Thursday by federal authorities who control the migratory fowl season.

Cellophane first was produced in the town of Tonawanda, N. Y.

Packers Beat Cardinals, 24-16

MIAMI (AP) — Green Bay's trade-strengthened Packers served notice they will be in the thick of the National Football League race by upsetting the Chicago Cardinals 24-16 in an exhibition test in the Orange Bowl Friday night.

The Packers, who finished last in the NFL's Western Division last year, didn't waste any time showing the Cardinals and 20,820 sweltering fans they intend to do better this year.

Packer defensive ace Bobby Dillon grabbed a lateral from Bill Forester on an intercepted pass play and scampered 29 yards for the first touchdown early in the game. Chicago's big fullback, Ollie Matson, tied the game up a few minutes later by twisting 11 yards on a reverse play for a TD

Early in the third quarter Dillon put the Packers ahead to stay by intercepting a pass from quarterback Lamar McHan and romping 44 yards into the end zone.
